

$25.00

Literature / Regional

AUGUSTA

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

Most anthologies are built around a single form such as short stories, essays, or poetry. This one mixes it up, presenting ten chapters, each from a different writer working in the region, to create an eclectic mix of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction. Instead of a form, what all writers share in this collection is a common geography—the Piscataqua River watershed of Seacoast NH and the border towns of southernmost ME. It's a literary smorgasbord for readers in the community to discover, explore, and celebrate ten outstanding literary talents living and writing among us.

Truly an amazing anthology. I really appreciate how each of the writers is given adequate space. Most anthologies just give a small bite of the work. Thank you!

—Bill Schultz, founder & editor of Hole In The Head Review

The river-centered Piscataqua region of coastal Maine and New Hampshire has inspired writers for generations. Immerse yourself in this wide-ranging anthology to connect with ten gifted wordsmiths.

—John Breneman, writer & editor, Portsmouth and York

It's not often that a reader is given the opportunity to experience the sweep of a writer's oeuvre, culled from her published work, in such a carefully curated gallery of poems, each one engaged in conversation with the others. Mimi White, our do-cent, invites us to see her world "looking out and in," however thorny the themes.

—Marie Harris, author of Desire Lines (Hobblebush Books)

What a treat to dive into this Whitman's Sampler of reading selections: sweet poetry, dark mystery, the crunch of memoir—all in one place, tinged with the region's particular beauty. You will delight in wondering what to choose next!

—Jean Anne Feldeisen, author of Not All Are Weeping

Hope is an oak full of crows in a clearing of caws, a shag on a rock, a duck on a bay. These Foerster poems thrive on a chorus of birds, on a shimmer of words, on a flash of sheer insight from his canopy of song.

—John Perrault, author of Season of Shagginess, North Hampton

TEN PISCATAQUA

PO BOX 1354

PORTSMOUTH, NH 03802-1354

www.tenpiscataqua.com

Cover illustration by Steven Lee

ISBN 978-1-7379723-2-7

9 781737 972327

52500

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

James Gatto Peter Welch Abbie Kiefer
Jason Allard Matt Miller John Perrault
Bob Gielow Jane C. Elkin Paul Goodwin
Madeline Kearin

An Anthology from the Watershed

Edited by

Phillip Augusta

James Patrick Kelly (fiction)

Mary Ann Cappiello (nonfiction)

Richard Foerster (poetry)

$25.00

Literature / Regional

AUGUSTA

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

Most anthologies are built around a single form such as short stories, essays, or poetry. This one mixes it up, presenting ten chapters, each from a different writer working in the region, to create an eclectic mix of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction. Instead of a form, what all writers share in this collection is a common geography—the Piscataqua River watershed of Seacoast NH and the border towns of southernmost ME. It's a literary smorgasbord for readers in the community to discover, explore, and celebrate ten outstanding literary talents living and writing among us.

Truly an amazing anthology. I really appreciate how each of the writers is given adequate space. Most anthologies just give a small bite of the work. Thank you!

—Bill Schultz, founder & editor of Hole In The Head Review

The river-centered Piscataqua region of coastal Maine and New Hampshire has inspired writers for generations. Immerse yourself in this wide-ranging anthology to connect with ten gifted wordsmiths.

—John Breneman, writer & editor, Portsmouth and York

It's not often that a reader is given the opportunity to experience the sweep of a writer's oeuvre, culled from her published work, in such a carefully curated gallery of poems, each one engaged in conversation with the others. Mimi White, our docent, invites us to see her world "looking out and in," however thorny the themes.

—Marie Harris, author of Desire Lines (Hobblebush Books)

What a treat to dive into this Whitman's Sampler of reading selections: sweet poetry, dark mystery, the crunch of memoir—all in one place, tinged with the region's particular beauty. You will delight in wondering what to choose next!

—Jean Anne Feldeisen, author of Not All Are Weeping

Hope is an oak full of crows in a clearing of caws, a shag on a rock, a duck on a bay. These Foerster poems thrive on a chorus of birds, on a shimmer of words, on a flash of sheer insight from his canopy of song.

—John Perrault, author of Season of Shagginess, North Hampton

TEN PISCATAQUA

PO BOX 1354

PORTSMOUTH, NH 03802-1354

www.tenpiscataqua.com

Cover illustration by Steven Lee

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

Ten Piscataqua Writers 2026

James Gatto
Peter Welch
Abbie Kiefer
Jason Allard
Matt Miller
John Perrault
Bob Gielow
Jane C. Elkin
Paul Goodwin
Madeline Kearin

An Anthology
from the Watershed

Edited by

Phillip Augusta

James Patrick Kelly (fiction)

Mary Ann Cappiello (nonfiction)

Richard Foerster (poetry)